To whom it may concern,

I had the pleasure of working with Youssef over the duration of approximately one year at my startup Bookshelved, from near the inception of the company to its sale. Throughout that time, Youssef proved time and time again to be a remarkably efficient and effective developer. I initially brought Youssef on as a data engineer, but he quickly outgrew that role as he built systems that made his old role obsolete. He evolved into a full-stack developer that created a number of features that users appreciated deeply. Youssef showed a tremendous amount of initiative, always suggesting new and thoughtful features and speaking regularly with users to gather feedback and fix bugs. Working with Youssef was a real pleasure, and I highly recommend him to any company looking to hire a well-rounded senior developer.

Best,
